The examiner is in agreement with applicant that the prior art of record had been factually misinterpreted. The examiner regrets the error.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-11 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Art Unit: 1621

The key to the instant invention is the contacting of at least a part of the hydroxide (of the reaction medium) with the catalyst prior to contacting the catalyst with the amine (also of the reaction medium). As stated above, the examiner is in agreement with applicant that the prior art of record had been factually misinterpreted in the previous Office Action. While US 5,777,166 contemplates a change in the "chronology" of the stages of the process (column 4, line 48) - which could encompass the key step in the instant reaction - such a statement cannot reasonably be extrapolated to arrive at this particular step out of the many possible alternatives. That is, at best, it might have been obvious to try contacting at least a part of the hydroxide with the catalyst prior to contacting the catalyst with the amine, however, an 'obvious to try' standard is impermissible in two situations: 1) where the prior art gives no indication as to which of numerous parameters are critical, or gives no indication as to which of many possible choices is likely to be successful; and 2) where the prior art gives only general guidance with respect to the form of the invention but not how to achieve it new areas of technology or in fields of experimentation which are only seemingly promising. In re O'Farrell, 853 F2d 894, 7 USPQ 2d 1673, 1681 (Fed. Cir. 1988). In the instant case, 1 above applies.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
